TRAFFIC SAFETY IS JUNIOR CHAMBER AIM

Keep death off the roads. Keep the accident rate down. Be careful. To help you do this, members of the Junior Chamber of Commerce Safety Council are providing a series of helpful reminders to Edmonton drivers and pedestrians which, if followed, should reduce the driving hazards on city streets.

This week, J. C. Ferguson, chairman of the Chamber's safety council, emphasizes the importance of following the Alberta law of going around the centre point in an intersection when turning to the left.

Crossroads Were Mud When Pilot Flew Here

If an Edmonton visitor, C. H. "Punch" Dickens, of Toronto, lingers a little longer than necessary today at Edmonton's airport, it will be strictly because of sentiment.

He's practically gaffed to the runways which grew to be the air cross roads of the world.

One-time northern Alberta bush pilot, later vice-president of Canadian Pacific Airlines, and now sales director of De Havilland Aircraft of Canada, "Punch" Dickens reached Edmonton Sunday and landed his new-design, all-metal "Beaver" aircraft at the landing field he has known since it was covered with willow brush.

That was in 1927. The city of Edmonton had just allocated land for an airport, crews were clearing the last of the willow brush, and where there are now extensive runways and huge hangars, there was one single small building and an acreage of slush and snow.

"Punch" Dickens and Fitz-L. R. Cowie flew a couple of Cessna biplanes over the city. It is an all-metal seven-passenger monoplane with take-off and climbing ability which the ex-bush pilot describes as "remarkable."

City Recreation Needs Outlined

Annual Commission Report Looks At Past and Future

Financing a long range program for development of recreation facilities should be the immediate concern of the Edmonton Recreation Commission.

This is stated in the annual report of the Commission released today.

Recommendations for 1949, the importance of improving existing recreational facilities and the need for keeping level with a rapidly growing city is stressed.

POLICY CHANGE NEEDED

Program expansion is being stifled, it is said, through the restrictive policy of allowing organized hockey to be played on city owned rinks only by boys under 18. This policy must be changed, it states, to satisfy the needs of older young people.

The past year has seen the greatest expansion since the Recreation Commission was established. Community playgrounds now number 15, with 11 yet to be developed.

An attempt was made to cater to the varied interests of all age groups and both sexes, and to avoid imposing a preselected program on the communities, it said.

The total number of volunteers who assisted in the civic recreation program during the year was 10,000. Much to do.

Submitting the report, W. C. Richards, chairman of the Recreation Commission, said "There is much yet to do. We are rapidly reaching the maximum participation in 1949 by present facilities. Many groups have received little or no attention. The need for facilities necessary for their development."

The report was compiled by Superintendent of Recreation, John O. Farina.

The Negative Mind

It is a very great pity that the blind prejudice of one man should make it necessary for Chief Constable Jones to announce that the junior police force project in Edmonton will be dropped.

Almost no opposition to the plan was expressed until Mayor H. D. Ainlay declared that he was against the establishment of a "junior Gestapo in this city" which would encourage "some boys to spy upon other boys."

It was an invidious and unfair attack because it called into play all the forces of prejudice and hatred which can be aroused so easily by the attachment of a false label.

As a columnist on this page predicted last week, this oblique method succeeded in quashing the plan where logic and common sense could only support it.

For immediately Mr. Ainlay compared this junior force to a heart-diluted Nazi institution, some feeble opposition began to gather.

It was not much, but it was enough to kill a project which naturally depended upon the good will of all the people.

Beyond knowing that Mr. Ainlay's mind is a negative mind, the people of Edmonton will find it difficult to understand.

'Collaborators' in Canada

The charge brought by various members of parliament that at least six Frenchmen known to have collaborated with the Nazis are living peacefully in Canada is something that the house of commons should investigate with the most scrupulous care.

It is a charge that no department of the government should be permitted to brush off with the terse statement that the matter is in hand.

Because dislike and suspicion of the Communists have grown to large proportions in Canada, this country cannot afford to blind its eyes to the menace inherent in the presence of zealots at the other end of the totalitarian scale.

If it is fitting, as it is, that reasonable

Noisy Weddings in Quebec

The city of Quebec has passed or is about to pass a bylaw prohibiting the honking of horns by automobiles carrying wedding parties.

No more will the happy newlyweds be permitted to be driven through the streets to a chorus of blasts and the clanking of trailing cars.

It is a measure that other Canadian cities might study carefully.

For while no one wants to put a damper on marital hilarity, this boisterous jocosity can sometimes be a nuisance.

However, we would stop short of advocating

Will Edmonton Get Them?

The announcement that Alberta led all the Canadian provinces with a tourist increase of 20 per cent in 1948 will be of little interest to Edmonton until this city is able to provide greater accommodation for visitors.

Adequate hotel space and motor cars are essential to the maximum tourist business.

The Yellowhead route of the Transstand how the mayor could object to the junior police force which was admitted through the plan because many people are excellent possibilities in the fight against delinquency.

It is possible, of course, that Mr. Ainlay opposed the plan because many people have criticized him had supported it. Certainly he could not have been serious in his utterly frivolous contention that the junior police resembled the Gestapo or that it would encourage children to be spies and tale-bearers.

For if the junior force must be a Gestapo, then the senior force must also be a Gestapo since the former is patterned exactly after the latter.

Does Mr. Ainlay object, then, to all police forces in principle? Does he consider police work to be demeaning and degrading?

Clearly this negative and bigoted stand will not encourage other intelligent and enterprising young police officers to apply their brains and energies to the crime problems of Edmonton.

Surely Mr. Ainlay must have a very low opinion of Edmonton youngsters if he thought they could so easily be converted into sneaks and spies.

Communists should be prosecuted, it is equally fitting and just as urgent that former enemies in the form of Nazi fellow travelers should be kept out of the country.

Canada is definitely not going to be a sanctuary for violent political extremists of any stripe.

The Canadian government has given the widest publicity, very properly, to the machinations of Communist agents here.

It should give the same publicity and the same open airing to the presence in Canada of those equally undesirable persons who identified themselves with the brutal and inhuman regime of Hitler in Vichy France.

There is far too much secrecy about this situation. Too much is hidden from the public.

Letters to the Editor

Investigation Badly Needed

Editor, Bulletin—I have been a subscriber of your paper for 25 years and the more I read is the better I think of it as a working man's paper.

Now reading your editorial in the paper of Feb. 23 I think it is a pity that you should have to read to such a large public that the public are kept ignorant of.

As you state in investigation is badly needed.

I wish your paper all the best of luck and I would like to see a lot more letters of the public backing up to the editor in your good work.

Taxpayer for 20 years and still, Edmonton.

BEAVERLODGE, Feb. 28.—Installation this year of sewerage system at an estimated cost of $35,000 was approved by an almost unanimous vote at the annual meeting of ratepayers held in the Community Centre. Mayor Edwin Jones was in the chair.

The mayor had read a statement on the estimated cost of installing waterworks in the town, based on a report made by representatives of the Haldin & Sons Construction Co. of Calgary when they surveyed the town last August. The subject was thrown open for discussion.

It was generally agreed that the total cost could not be undertaken this year, but it was suggested that at least the sewerage system be proceeded with.

Financial report by secretary-treasurer, N. D. McFarlane, disclosed a great deal of money was spent last year on improving the streets and sidewalks. This included one block of cement sidewalks which were laid last summer.

Fire chief W. Schultz, gave a report on the recent formation of a fire brigade, and stressed the need of adequate shelter for the fire truck. A further discussion followed, and it was finally decided to rent an available building for three months until further plans could be made for the erection of a fire hall.

Some of the Cream of Golden Gloves' Crop

CHAMPIONS ALL . . . Once the final bout was in the bag at the Stock Pavilion Saturday night champions had been declared in 14 divisions and flash bulbs commenced to pop all over the place. A number of the

Sock . . . and Another Boxer Hits the Canvas

UPS AND DOWNS is the story of any Golden Gloves tourney, especially when the battlers start shooting for keeps, as they were Saturday night. Here Keith Fleming, promising little Edmonton Boxing club representative, goes down as Barrhead's Jack Hornsby gets in a good belt. In the meantime referee Jack Berry, a better-than-average fighter in his own right, moves in to wave Hornsby, the winner, back to a neutral corner.

St. Peter Cops Golden Boy Award; Gloves Big Success

By DICK REDDOES

Ken St. Peter of the Edmonton Boxing Club can afford to be peacock-proud this day. For Saturday night, at the Stock Pavilion, he was selected as Golden Boy from among the 70-odd boxers who participated in the first annual Bulletin-sponsored Golden Gloves Jack Starky, prominent local sportsman and donor of the Golden Boy trophy, made the presentation after the final fight in the two-day spectacle of sock.

Along the way to the highest award in the show Ken mowed down three opponents and picked up a black left eye. Friday night he dethroned Bob Thompson from Red Deer and Saturday he adlined Tom White of Edmonton and Barrhead's Don Boyce.

Winning the Golden Boy Trophy was a great moment for the lad from St. Michael's school. His good right eye glowed with excitement as he said:

"Gee, thanks Mr. Starky." And while St. Peter led the pack in all-round boxing ability, baby-faced Roy Olecko stole all honors in the highly specialized department of socking ability. He knocked out not one, but two opponents Saturday to win the 126-pound novice event. In a semi-final bout Fraser Taylor was out colder than a penguin's shins from the power in Olecko's right hand early in the second round.

Olecko made even shorter work of Varsity's Bill Howson in the final. After Howson had piled up a long lead on points he leveled the collegian with three solid right smashes to the chin at 1:57 of the first bout.

Best action of the night came in the 118-pound final between Arnold Edwards of Amber Valley and Ralph Hosak from Barrhead. The little Negro from the north copped a unanimous decision over the Barrhead beller and gave a routing two-fisted display all the while.

George Hart, a crew-cut blond from Red Deer, demonstrated boxing science as a Gene Tunney as he cut Walt Kosak and Jim McGregor, both of Edmonton, down to size in the 135 pound novice class. He was tabbed, as a fine prospect by the professional boxing moguls in attendance.

And it Hart was the Tunney kind of scrapper then Levitt Mc-Masters from the Glenora Indian Reserve was the counterpart of Jack Dempsey. He delivered stinging blows with either hand while disposing of Mike O'Reilly Friday and scored a TKO triumph over Edmonton's game Maurice Lewis in the 147 pound novice final Saturday.

Upwards of 2,500 enthusiastic fans witnessed the two-day enterprise. Their response indicated that they were well satisfied and several who have seen Golden Glove tournaments elsewhere felt that the caliber of boxing was on the whole, well above average.

THIS WAS A HIGH NOTE in the young life of Ken St. Peter, 110-pound socker from the Edmonton Boxing club. Chosen as the winner of Golden Boy honors, St. Peter, black eye and all, was one happy lad as Jack Starky, donor of the trophy, made the presentation. Starky, in his day one of the best all-round athletes to come down the local pike, appeared to get just as much enjoyment out of his part in the proceedings.

BUG-EYED Arnold Edwards, Amber Valley, proved a prime favorite as he survived all competition in the 118-pound division.

SHALL WE DANCE, you say? Not at all. It just so happened that Jim Page, left, Recreation Boxing club, and Barrhead's Bill Fountain each let go with a sock at the same time. Neither blow was on the target. Fountain dethroned Page, later lost in the 126-pound finals to Don McGregor.

ONE OF THE BIG moments attached to a Golden Gloves is the weigh-in and physical check-up that precedes a bout. Terry Scott, king of the 60-pounders, gets a "going-over" from Dr. Carleton Taylor.

Competition Keen As Diaper Champs Crowned

CHAMPIONSHIP BABIES by the score made judging difficult in Second Annual Diaper Derby at University Athabasca Hall Saturday. Grand champion at 11 months is curly-headed Terry McManus, son of Mr. and Mrs. T. M. McManus, Hut 916, Camp 106. Terry was also winner in six-month-to-one-year class. Contest was staged by Canadian University Returned Men's Association.

LITTLE SUSAN Trimble certainly made Mama Constance Trimble of 8832 88th avenue happy by winning the one-to-six-months event. Mrs. Trimble is a British war bride who came to Canada just three years ago from Surrey, England. Little champ is just four months of age but she handled herself like a veteran competitor in the diaper sweepstakes. More than 100 babies competed.

THIS PRETTY little lady is Miss Roberta Taylor, who at 13 months, swept to triumph in the one-to-two-years division. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Taylor of 10908 81st avenue. She is an only child but Mom and Pop are sure that winning a championship isn't going to spoil Robert one bit. Irene Scollan won in two-to-five-years event. She is three and one-half years of age.

THERE'S NOTHING like an early start even in diaper competitions. Lanny Smith, received a special prize as youngest entrant. He's the son of Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Smith of Camp 106. RCAF veteran Ernest Oxford won the prize for being "most attentive father." Diaper Derby is becoming one of the big attractions at University Campus. A huge crowd witnessed the judging and acclaimed winners.

Farm Group Committee Is Appointed

An inter-provincial farm committee to work with the Saskatchewan farmers' organization has been set up by the Farmers' Union of Alberta.

President Carl J. Stimpfle of the FUA heads the committee appointed at the current meeting of provincial directors held here last week. Other members are A. B. Woods of Dewberry and Mrs. R. H. Gunn of Paradise Valley.

Function of the interprovincial committee will be to deal with specific problems affecting farmers in Alberta and Saskatchewan, Mr. Stimpfle said.

Another committee was appointed to obtain a residence in Edmonton for president Stimpfle who now lives on his farm near Egremont.

A third committee will work on a new provincial broadcast series by the Farmers' Union of Alberta. R. J. Boutiller has been appointed secretary-treasurer of the Farmers' Union of Alberta. He served in that capacity for the AFU.

Mill Creek Residents Protest Eviction Move

Mill Creek residents will carry their fight for adequate utilities to city authorities, bringing a three-point program of improvements before the Town Planning Commission.

Roused over the death earlier this month of four-year-old Michael Kosak in a Connor's Road house fire where inadequate fire protection was provided, 36 residents of the Mill Creek and Connor's Road districts held a protest meeting last night at Cloverdale Community hall.

Meanwhile civic authorities are inspecting the area. Last night's meeting reported several eviction notices had been received by the residents of the Mill Creek district.

NOT QUATERS

Paying an average yearly rental of $35 to the city for each lot and owning the homes on them, the residents cannot be evicted from their buildings, but are subject to eviction from the land. They are not eligible to claim the land under "squatters' law which provides free title after seven years' residence.

"The city is sending eviction notices to individuals because authorities fear the opposition which a mass eviction notice would cause," Holger Hanson, chairman of the meeting, charged.

Meeting agreed to present a three-point improvement program to the Town Planning Commission for consideration by the city.

The program calls for allocation of free, utility-served lots on Connor's Road for present Mill Creek residents, a survey of Connor's Road district to provide lots for residents of the district, and construction of city-built community easements on Connor's hill for tenancy by very old residents of the area.

GAS EXTENSION SEEN FOR JASPER PLACE

City gas lines may be extended west to 163 street this year, it was announced recently at a meeting of the West Jasper Place Taxpayers Association.

Lloyd Haliburton, member of the association's gas committee, said Northwestern Utilities Ltd. have not guaranteed the extension, as the project depends upon the supply of main and lead-in pipe available.

"It is hoped that the area between 149 and 156 streets and 95 and 108 avenues will be serviced this year and possibly the area further west as materials become available," Mr. Haliburton said.

Plans to install a traffic "blinker" light at 152 street and Stony Plain Road were approved by the Calgary Power Co., the meeting was told.

Residents of the district have contributed $294 of a $500 guarantee required by city authorities to authorize extension of fire protection services to the district.

Patricia Gunn Wins Miss Edmonton Crown

Miss Edmonton of 1950 is vivacious 20-year-old Patricia Gunn. She was crowned queen of the Federation of Edmonton Community Leagues annual ice carnival at the Arenas Saturday.

Victory of Miss Gunn in the voting for queen of the carnival was a smashing triumph for the all-veterans community of Elmwood Park, the former Grier-son Estate.

She is the outdoor senior ladies skating champion for Alberta and prominent in outdoor sports of all kinds.

Mayor Harry D. Ainlay placed the crown on the head of Miss Gunn during closing events of winter carnival week at the Edmonton Arenas.

THREE OTHERS

Miss Gunn was victor in a popular voting competition against representatives of three other community leagues: Eastwood, Highlands and Riverdale.

She succeeds Miss Ruth Wilson, whose reign officially terminated Saturday. Miss Gunn will be Edmonton's representative in the provincial event next year.

Growing of the new queen climaxed a big schedule of events during carnival week, sponsored jointly by Junior Chamber of Commerce, Civic Recreation Commission, and the Edmonton Exhibition Association and Federation of Community Leagues.

Half Million in Road Contracts Will Be Let

Contracts for paving and graveling totalling $558,870.10 will be awarded by city council here tonight.

They are $234,967.69 covering 1949 paving program, and $323,902.50 for stripping and loading gravel at the city's pit.

Commissioners are recommending that Crown Paving and Construction Co. Ltd. be awarded the paving contract. This company submitted the lowest of two bids received.

The second bid was from O.K. Construction and Supply Co. Ltd. and was for $547,490.95.

Acceptance of this company's tender for the stripping and gravel loading contract is recommended by city commissioners, although not the lowest tenderer.

O.K. Construction Co.'s tender for this work was $232,832.50. This is $27.50 above the bid submitted by the Fitzgerald Construction Co.

J. D. A. Macdonald, acting city engineer, recommends acceptance of the O.K. Construction Co. bid and city commissioners concur in the recommendation.

Acceptance of the bid is recommended because of the company's experience in producing gravel through several similar contracts, together with the large amount of equipment owned by the company.

These factors, in Mr. Macdonald's opinion, are insurance against delays of a costly nature.

He reports also the opening of a new gravel pit in Windsor terrace on the South Side of the river and also that graveling program this year will be much more extensive than in former years.

Rescue of Jewish Children Is Object of Youth Aliya

Telling an unhappy, first-hand story of the persecution of Jewish children in Europe, Jeanne Daman, of Brussels, is in Edmonton to raise funds for Youth Aliya, an organization for bringing children from DP camps to Palestine.

Miss Daman is especially interested in the Canadian Hadassah village in Palestine, which is entirely supported by Youth Aliya. There are now 200 children in the Hadassah village, but they hope to be able to expand within this year.

When Jewish persecution first began in 1941, Miss Daman became principal of one of the Jewish orphanages. When the Gestapo closed the school and the children were taken away, Miss Daman joined the underground movement.

She remained a member of the underground till after the war, coming to America in 1946. Since then her time has been spent mostly in collecting funds for the people she left behind.

Miss Daman will return to Israel in August, where she expects to find considerable improvement. She believes the responsibility for Jewish children should rest, not only on the shoulders of Jewish people, but on all people of good-will who hope to move 6,000 children from Europe to Palestine in the next 12 months.

Miss Daman addressed a meeting at Telmont Torah last night. She leaves for Saskatoon tonight.

Inside Hollywood

By Hal Thomas
HOLLYWOOD, (AP)—Movies without women are flourishing in Hollywood these days.

This may be another sign of the film industry's economy drive, but I doubt it. It looks like a trend to a more realistic treatment of the war and other themes. At any rate, MGM starts "Operation Malaya" this week with Spencer Tracy, James Stewart and an all-male cast. Other non-staff films include "Command Decision," "Fighter Squadron," "Down to the Sea in Ships" and "O'Clock High."

Let Them Eat Meat At 6 Weeks, Says Doc

CHICAGO, Feb. 28.—(AP)—Babies who start to eat meat at the age of six weeks will have better blood, better sleep and better general physical condition than without meat, a new research report indicates.

Dr. H. W. Schultz of Swift research laboratories, writing in the current National Livestock Producer, told of two years of study to find out if baby babies were meat and if there are any healthful advantages to it.

The protein requirement of a baby is actually three or four times as much as that of an adult, Dr. Schultz said. "Our research has found that meat is the best source of complete, high-quality protein."

In the feeding tests one group of six-week-old babies received the customary baby formula. Another group had small amounts of strained meat added to the formula. The meat was fine enough to go through the nipple of a nursing bottle. More meat was added daily until the protein content was increased by 25 per cent.

After eight weeks babies receiving meat showed an average hemoglobin of 113.3 per cent compared with 88.7 per cent for those with only meat. An average red-blood-cell count of 122.2 per cent for those with meat and 106.2 per cent for those without. There were no stomach upsets from the meat-added diet.

"Meat-fed babies slept better, showed less tendency toward anemia and were generally in a better physical condition than those receiving no meat supplement," the report said.

The Icelandic language is the most northerly of all cultivated tongues and contains 13 letters in the alphabet.

BETTER LIVE STAFFS THAN DEAD HEROES

LONDON, Feb. 28.—(Herald.)—The Daily Mirror says today the British Red Cross has told its staff it does not expect them to risk their lives in guarding sea.

It quotes a bank official as saying: "We want no repetitions of the kind which occurred when a manager was shot dead by a rifleman."

The bank also has ordered doors to be padlocked upon leaving hours, as, although they could not enter, they could not get in, the Daily Mirror says.

Seaway Praised As Defence Aid

Forrestal Cites Facilities For Lake Shipbuilding

WASHINGTON, Feb. 28.—(AP)—James Forrestal, secretary of defense, said Saturday that from the point of view of national defense the proposed St. Lawrence seaway and power project would be "clearly advantageous."

Also, Forrestal said, the permanent joint board of defense of the United States and Canada recently went on record as unanimously favoring "the implementation of this joint project."

REPORT TO SENATOR

Forrestal's views were contained in a report to Senator Alexander Wiley (Rep. Wis.), a supporter of the seaway project.

Forrestal said the seaway would provide a gateway for ships directly to and from the sea.

This, he said, would permit great lakes shipyards to build practically all types of cargo ships designed for use with the United States seagoing merchant fleets.

While shipbuilding and repair yards on the seaway are now capable of carrying for peacetime construction or repair programs," he said, "the additional facilities which would be available in the Great Lakes would be of distinct advantage in the event of a national emergency."

LABRADOR IRON TOO

A further national defence advantage, Forrestal said, would be the "greater access" it would provide to additional sources of high-grade iron ore in Quebec and Labrador.

Forrestal said construction of the proposed 2,200-mile-long hydro-electric development of the St. Lawrence project also would be a "great advantage" to national defence because this additional electric capacity is "urgently needed."

Forrestal said that the project would be of great value to the United States in the event of a national emergency.

They have been meeting other Canadians as individuals, working for Occidental firms (which on the coast usually refused to hire them) and joining in community life.

CALGARY COPIES US EVEN ON TELEPHONES

CALGARY, Feb. 28.—(CP)—End of the letter prefix system for Calgary's telephone numbers is forecast in the latest edition of the Calgary and district telephone directory to be distributed shortly.

Telephone numbers of several business firms are being changed to five figures instead of a letter and two or more figures.

It is understood that private phone numbers, unchanged at present from the old one letter and four numbers, eventually will be changed to five numbers.

The change will bring the telephone number system in line with that used in Edmonton.

Fire Bosses Form Union

CALGARY, Feb. 28.—(CP)—A new organization, to be known as the National Union of Fire Bosses, was formed here Saturday following a two-day meeting of all bituminous and domestic mine fire chiefs in western Canada.

The organization will be affiliated with the Canadian Congress of Labor.

MERGER OF GROUPS

The NUFB is an amalgamation of the Western Canada Fire Bosses Association, TFC, the bituminous mining areas, and the National Union of Fire Bosses, CCL, in the domestic fields.

The fire bosses are employed in supervisory capacities as safety examiners in the coal mines.

Delegates voted to ask mine owners for a welfare and retirement fund similar to that recently granted to electric 18, United Mine Workers of America, CCL Mine owners.

under terms on contracts signed with UMWA earlier this month, agreed to contribute 15 cents a ton on every ton of coal produced in their mines towards a union welfare and retirement fund for the miners.

Delegates named William Holmquist of Drumheller as president of the new organization. Jack McEwen of Blairmore, Alta., was elected secretary-treasurer.

EXECUTIVE COUNCIL

Executive Council is Stan Baker and Bill Stevens, representing mines in the Edmonton area; Jack Swenson, representing British Columbia mines; William Vandenwick, representing the Lethbridge area; Bert Hevroy and Joseph Pett, representing mines in the Drumheller area; and John James and Tom Williams, representing the Nordegg, Alta., area.

'Fast' Strike Ends

BOMBAY, Feb. 28.—(Reuters)—Eighty brokenmen on the Great Indian Peninsula Railway have called off a fast begun six days ago as a "silent protest" against series of pay and other conditions of service.
